 Kathleen Viola Thank you for being an inspiration to those that weren't even in on your down line/team! Your positive energy and willingness to teach others has helped to keep me from giving up, even through some really tough times! I love LV and always will, but I wish your family continued success whatever road you're on!

Friends,
Please receive this message with the absolute love, admiration and gratitude that we have for all of you! It is with a very sad heart that it has come to this. Many of you are confused and we feel that you deserve to know the truth about what has happened, so we are posting this with the sincere hope that it gives you clarity.
A few weeks ago, LifeVantage placed us on indefinite "suspension" after we announced our excitement to diversify our business interests. We were shocked and disappointed by LifeVantage's actions. These actions rob the independence and freedom that all of us should have as independent business owners.
We believe that LifeVantage's actions are unfair and unlawful. As such, we were forced to file a lawsuit against LifeVantage. (See link below)
We remain hopeful that LifeVantage will reconsider its actions.
We spent years of dedicated efforts building our LifeVantage business. We continue to use Protandim every day and still recommend it to people. But the reward of our years of effort and hard work were eliminated by LifeVantage.
We want all of you to have hopes and dreams on fire! And wish you the very best! We stated very clearly that we were not leaving LifeVantage, but the company had other plans for us.
We appreciate your friendship!
Sincerely,
Bill & Cynthia Delaney

 Kenna Vallejos Thank goodness you are not splitting up as a couple. I watched quietly as the power of two showed up for your son in his trial. I'm grateful your unity still stands.

3 · June 24 at 4:29pm

 William C. Davison Best wishes on your future endeavors going forward! I am not an attorney so nothing can really be said about the condition that you all are facing with this. You all are certainly leaders in this industry and will thrive going forward where ever your future will take you! God Bless you all!

6 · June 24 at 4:55pm

 Marty Mickelson So you mean to tell me that it is unfair for LIFEVANTAGE to suspend you and ok for you to cross recruit. Come on. I am sorry I stayed quiet on his, however, you and I both know that you can't "diversify" in the same industry. Especially when you are taking people from your own downline and the downline of others. Call it what it is and you will get more respect. You found something new and you are moving on. However choices have consequences. I wish the best for both of you.

 Bill Delaney Marty Mickelson We did not and would not cross recruit anyone! Marty, it sounds like you have an "opinion", to what level are you willing to stake this opinion? Independent contractors are not employees.
You can make that decision if you want to, but we choose free will and free market capitalism. Marty, you are not even in our genealogy but you know that we've gone over and above to support you! We did not choose to "move on", and clearly stated so in our original post. But Marty, you're entitled to your opinion, we will never stop loving you!

5 · June 24 at 5:56pm

 Karen Murphy Bill Delaney I am confused. You mention Independent contractors are not employees but in your Complaint under Prayer for Relief section E it states you are seeking the court to find that your employment status was that of an Employee and not an Independent contractor. □

 Timothy Loewen Holdeman So Bill Delaney. Is not 60000 to 100000 per month not enough money?? I am really confused here... Once again folks its not only about just you. Every decision you make effects everyone below you... I hate this kind of thing.. Totaly agree with Marty Mickelson

1 · June 26 at 2:54am

 Marty Mickelson Cynthia Delaney

June 26 at 1:00pm

 Marty Mickelson Cynthia Delaney and Bill Delaney. Ok I have taken some time to clarify my thoughts here. We all have our opinions and I have a problem with what you are saying. You are taking something that should be private between you and LifeVantage and making it public. Why would you do that. If people are asking you questions then take the time privately and answer them. When you post this lawsuit here is my perceptions on why you are doing it. My opinion is, and if you truly care about me and my family then you either respect my opinion or help me see where I may be wrong. So here it is. My opinion is that one you want sympathy for how LifeVantage has chosen to respond to what you have CHOSEN to do. Two you want to take that sympathy and further persuade people to now join you in your new venture. You put out a lure hoping to catch some fish. To further bait that lure you keep talking about diversification. You even tried to throw me doing real estate in my face like see you are doing it. Let's be clear here. I am a Pro 6 with 6 kids and a beautiful wife Allyson Tippetts Mickelson to support. I have a fair amount of Residual income to help support my family just not enough yet to fully support my family. When we started we were owners of a Landscaping company. That failed in the recession we needed another source of income so we diversified in a completely different industry to do that. We did not muddy the waters by going to another MLM because that is not diversification. That would be like having our Landscape company and then opening another landscape company at the same time. Which one do we put the business in? Just does not work. Diversify means OTHER sources outside your main industry.

Further more you threw in my face that you came to Vegas to help me and my team and we weren't in your downline. That offends me. Let's once again be honest. You never once came to Vegas for Marty and Allyson. You came for the team that Ann Woodrum was building. As a result we became friends and partnered meetings together and each benefited from one another. However, when that team did not produce a leader you two left Vegas and never returned. I do not fault you for that. So to be clear it was a joint venture that we tried together and benefited together. I am sorry if this is harsh. However, I am not about to create a parade to celebrate you moving to a new company and I am not going to join the pitty party that you are creating as a result of your actions. I just want to call a spade a spade. And clarify this divisive bullshit you call diversification.

2 · June 26 at 1:27pm

 LeeAnn Ray Marty, your post is just plain rude!! I've read posts bashing the Delaney's for a couple of days and this one takes the cake. You've obviously spent a LOT of time simmering over this, instead of continuing to build the business you believe so strongly in. Do yourself a favor and unfriend Bill and Cynthia so that you can move on with your life!! The Delaney's are amazing people who have done nothing but pour blood, sweat and tears into Life Vantage. People have conveniently forgotten that!! So what, they grabbed onto a way to diversify THEIR business portfolio and further THEIR financial portfolio for THEIR FAMILY and future family! It's their life and their prerogative to do whatever they want in business! You do not get an opinion on that-nobody does! They have done nothing to you! Your success or failure is on you, not them yet I see a lot of blame going on! My success and failures are on me and the Delaney's have done nothing but support me when I asked for it! Always pushing, always encouraging! That's the kind of people they are! You absolutely owe them an apology for your rude comments! It's awfully easy to be so rude hiding behind a computer screen. I have NO DOUBT that they will spend the rest of their lives continuing to help people reach their full potential-no matter where or how. That's just who they are and I am sad for you that you don't recognize that about them because you sure are missing out on seeing the hearts of some pretty great people!!

1 · June 26 at 3:18pm

 Cynthia Delaney Marty Mickelson

June 26 at 3:45pm

 Marty Mickelson LeeAnn Ray first off you don't know me. I am known as one who speaks his mind I would say the same if they were in front of me. Second I do not hate Bill Delaney or Cynthia Delaney. I have known them for 6 years now and respect what they did to get to the top. However, they publicly are airing this issue and therefore I have to address to them publicly the feedback I get from people in my team. Actions cause a Ripple effect just like throwing a stone in a pond the ripples effect everyone whether you intended them to or not. Their actions are having an effect on other people's businesses. So publicly I will say to Bill Delaney and Cynthia Delaney if I have offended you with my comments I apologize. I hope the best for you. I know you are adults and understand that I am letting you know my concerns with what is going on. If they chose to as you say "unfriend" me the that is their right to do so. Furthermore it is funny that you come at me so hard calling me rude when you don't know me and you chose to go to the other company according to your Facebook. I say to you good luck I hope you as well are successful.

 Cynthia Delaney Love y'all tons!! Always Will! We will always be there for y'all! This friendship is for a lifetime! Thank you being here for us

2 · June 24 at 11:38pm

 Robert Frank I hope you win this. Because you're not their employee. You are an independent business owner and have the right to offer what ever you like to your customer base. This is the one thing that has kept me from building big there because I don't agree with this rule.

7 · June 24 at 6:41pm

 Vanessa Marquez Hi Robert You can participate in other nwm and direct selling companies here. You may not invite, recruit or solicit even directly or indirectly like fb to LifeVantage distributors. This is a more flexible policy than most nwm companies which typically say you cannot even participate in an other nwm company . It's important in business to know your policy and procedures. We have freedom here at LifeVantage, and at the same time as with any company, policies and procedures are created to protect the company as a whole. It's really simple to help a lot of people, live your purpose and abide by our policies and procedures. What you dont agree on is a misunderstanding of common policies and procedures that exist in most companies as non competes and agreements for appropriate business conduct.

Chris Benson I'm confused. Why is the law firm mentioning defendants as Douglas C. Robinson, David Phelps and Global Rescue LLC dba Global Rescue Direct on page 15 are they involved in the lawsuit too? This is so sad for everyone.

2 · June 24 at 7:37pm

Christine Navarro It saddens my heart to read all the posts of all those who are being negative towards the Delaney's. No matter what's going on in there life they are always there to encourage others. There life is all about helping others in a positive way. Those who they have helped and called them friends and now are bashing them, shame on you. What ever Journey they decide to go on in life I wish them the best of luck and much prosperity. Bill & Cynthia, I will always hold you near and dear to my heart. Thanks for your support. Love you

7 · June 26 at 11:34pm

Shawn Jorgenson Totally!!! The Delaney's have earned the benefit of the doubt, pouring so much effort and heart into this company and the distributors. I have been so inspired by the family.. Bill, Cynthia, and Dillon. With the social media landscape as it is – public and interconnected – it seems as if a person has to be actively hiding their actions with another MLM if they are to be compliant. Unless presentations are being given introducing both opportunities in the same meeting, then go Delaney's!!

1 · June 29 at 1:02pm · Edited

Brittany Crow Shame on those of you that choose to bad mouth and speak negatively towards the Delaneys. Shouldn't you support them in their decisions as they have supported you throughout the years?? If you don't agree with the decisions they make then delete them or keep the bullshit to yourselves! Delaney family yall are one of the most amazing group of people I know and yall are doing AMAZING things with some amazing people backing yall up!! Keep it up!! Cause in the in the good always outweighs the bad!!! Love yall so much!!!!

4 · June 27 at 1:11pm

Chris Vale I never post on Facebook, but I have to share my thoughts....I am in no way being negative, but like it has been said, lets look at facts. The post on May 15 by you guys about diversifying could be viewed in different ways from different people. I can tell you this, no matter what your intentions were, the seed was planted. Look at the comments after the post. People were asking what company and opportunity you all were talking about. Did you personally recruit them? Of course you didn't, but that post alone has the potential to ruin people's businesses. Why do I say this? Well, the reason is because I speak from experience. I was @ around $95,000 a month in volume, and a person whom I will not mention, started promoting the exact same scenario as you guys. He was all about Lifevantage, but he had found something else that was not in health in wellness, and he just wanted to share it with his friends. He never personally recruited anyone out of my business, but my business went from $95,000 in volume to $35,000 in volume overnight. And he was just a pro 6, not a pro 10. His little seed that he planted cost me over half of my check and I went from time freedom to looking for a job. So for a pro 10, planting a seed like that may not effect your check and business because you have enough new volume coming in every month to replace the lost volume, but to the pro 6, pro 5, pro 4, pro 3, pro 2, pro 1, and distributor....this tears their business apart. Why? Because they don't have elite distributors all over their team to hold it together when the people on the fence think it's easier or faster to look at and build another business. They all start leaving. If they have not built a successful Lifevantage business, how are they going to build another one and still try to make Lifevantage work? They can't do 2 businesses like you guys because it is a known fact, "do not build another mlm until you have perfected and built your current one." So having said that. Really, the only people you should have offered to help diversify their income would be elite distributors. They have already perfected their businesses. And well....you could have just called them up, considering there isn't too many of them, but instead you posted on Facebook. My problem is that as pro 10's...you can not tell me that you are not aware of the possible issues that come up when you even mention to your downline about another mlm.....you've been around big boys in this industry, and you have to know how this works. So if you didn't, then I'm sorry you had to learn the hard way, and if you did, then that's not good either. Wishing you the best.

 Dan Oesterman I am so disappointed that they did this. I hope it all works out for your family. I love you guys so much!

 Chris Vale I also found it quite coincidental that your post on diversification was posted on May 15, the day your pro 10 checks hit your pro pay account, and past the point of Lifeventure holding your money back. You are master distributors of this new venture with Doug Robinson, Dave Phelps, and Ryan Thompson, and you did not put this venture together in a couple weeks. This has been months in the making, and I know you've got attorneys and consultants guiding you through the whole process. Are you saying that not a single person in your circle warned or guided you about mentioning to your downline about your new mlm? If so, you should sue them. Again, I'm only stating the facts....but damn, these facts are like showing the ABC news video, you can't dispute it.

 Cynthia Delaney Tons of assumptions.

We wish it was this simple, but it's not. Truth and Time will meet. We Love and are Blessed by all the LV friendships and love over the last 7 1/2 years & will continue to be Grateful and Supportive of everyone at LV. We Will Celebrate the Victories of Everyone! We are here to help anyone in their NWM journey! Our hearts are full from the many lives we have been blessed to be a part of and we Love all y'all dearly!! Thank you for all you are doing to create better lives and impact the world with Good

 Chris Vale My only assumptions were that you didn't get offered a master distributor position with a new company with just a couple of weeks of talking about it, and that you had attorneys and consultants guiding you. How do those assumptions change anything? I'm not wrong about you guys being master distributors along side Doug, Dave, and Ryan. What is not simple about that? Thx.

June 29 at 4:08pm

 Bill Delaney Chris Vale Those are giant assumptions and not the only assumptions you made and assumptions are not facts. Sorry but you'll just have to wait for truth and time to meet. Best wishes to you for a life of success, freedom and time with the ones you love!

2 · June 29 at 4:15pm

 Chris Vale My only assumption is that you guys should've known better....what about my assumptions changes what you guys did? You're master distributors with a new company and you put the seed out there for everyone to read? Am I assuming that also? Thx.

 Renee Giardina Bill & Cynthia all you need to do is what you've always done, hold your head high, be positive and continue to live your lives helping other people!!! I'm honored * blessed to be in GRD with you guys and our entire corporate team!! You have every right as Americans to be able to diversify your income without being penalized or controlled!! Prayers & positive thoughts are being sent by me to you!! Love all 3 of you, Bill Cynthia & Dillon!!

 Suzanne Clark if people continue to put all their eggs in one basket like the housing, stock etc when the feast is good but famine is 7 years Alternative so diversity is wise. The other is a virtual medical service not even a competitor of LV products. They were only suspended not fired. Stop judging in fear. if you truly believe in mlm business model then support all as customers instead of making the waltons richer at Walmart. What they do to their vendors is appalling. The only reason Lv sees this as a threat is because of past mgmt leaders. If you really have built a relationship business not a retail business loyalty will not waver.

 Lauri Henley Lewallen Bill Delaney and Cynthia Delaney, I think you two are incredibly good people and inspiring leaders. I have to say, I'm extremely saddened and shocked at the negative and childish comments I'm reading on this post. Many of the derogatory posts by people that are speculating and then judging based on speculation. Since when has diversity ever been a bad word in the world of business? What ever happened to fair and square competition in the marketplace? That's the heart and soul of entrepreneurship and our free enterprise system. Simply stated, let visions, products, culture, results and stories compete evenly and fairly. Allow people to make choices based on what they want. This isn't the Soviet Union!!

 Cynthia Delaney Lauri Henley Lewallen, you are a Beautiful Smart Women & a Class act It's easy for people to throw stones, and unfortunately much harder for most to stand up for their beliefs, and what is right, but you have Thank you for the support. It hasn't be... See More

 Robert Tintoro Well, here is my logical explanation on this, the way I see lifeVantage is just protecting their own business, and what they did, is just wrong, against the company policy, unethical, immoral, this move has no human moral, no business ethics. They can say whatever they want, the fact speaks for itself, if they would not share new MLM with their downline people they would not have face what they are facing.

 Robert Tintoro Maybe I am wrong, lord, let me be, I do not want look myself bad...

 Trevor V Coyne All I know is LOVE covers a multitude of sin. Laws and their consequences will ensue, but that doesn't change a world that needs all of us to do our part. Take care!! God bless.
